Service Expectations:

Service on the Board of Directors is a voluntary, unpaid position. The CLC Board of Directors meets six times per year for approximately 1.5 hours/meeting.

Serving on the Board for our charitable nonprofit comes with several important expectations and responsibilities. Here are some important areas to consider:

1. Fiduciary Duties: All Board members must adhere to their fiduciary duties of care, loyalty, obedience, and confidentiality. This means Board members will be expected to actively participate in decision-making, attend meetings regularly, and be well-informed about the organization's activities. The nonprofit's interests must always take priority over personal or professional interests, avoiding conflicts of interest. Board members must ensure that the organization adheres to its mission, complies with laws, fulfills its purpose, and maintains financial health and sustainability.

2. Strategic Planning and Oversight: The Board members will be involved in setting and revisiting the organization's mission, vision and strategic goals and overseeing financial performance of the organization. Board members will also work to identify and mitigate potential risks to the organization.
3. Fundraising and Resource Development: As a charitable organization, Board members will play a critical role in fundraising, either by directly contributing, securing donations, or leveraging their networks to support the organization's financial needs.
4. Advocacy and Public Relations: Board members will be acting as ambassadors for CLC by helping promote its mission and programs to the community.
5. Commitment: CLC is seeking candidates that will demonstrate commitment by providing valuable volunteer time and expertise to further advance the mission of the organization.
